AN INDEPENDENT PUBLICATION STEEPED IN HISTORY

Launched in 1991, The Western Weekender has been the heartbeat of the Penrith community for more than 30 years.

Across print and digital, the Weekender has a loyal and dedicated readership and offers an extraordinary reach for advertisers.

Today, it stands as the only weekly print publication in Penrith, and as the region's number one media brand.

Out every Thursday, the Weekender provides a mix of up-to-date and breaking news, community stories, lifestyle columns and features, business stories, auto content, sports stories and much, much more. All of this across respected print and digital assets.

For advertisers, the Weekender provides unrivalled access to the Penrith community.

The Weekender is proudly independent, retaining such an ownership structure since the day it was launched. It is locally owned right here in the Penrith community.

We have been there for Penrith's biggest moments. Its achievements, its heartbreaks, its extraordinary growth.

We are Penrith's local paper.
And when we say we're local, we mean it.

PENRITH

A UNIQUE CITY AT THE FOOT OF THE BLUE MOUNTAINS

Penrith is more than you think

Located 45 minutes from the Sydney CBD, Penrith has emerged as one of the key population centres of Sydney.

With the Western Sydney International Airport due to open on its doorstep in 2026, Penrith's importance as an airport city, with extensive population growth and tourism attraction, has grown immensely in recent times.

Penrith sits at the foothills of the Blue Mountains.

It mixes all the benefits of a big city, including major shopping destinations, restaurants and activities, while retaining a rural charm that appeals to many of its long-term residents.

With a population of more than 215,000, the Penrith Local Government Area features 36 suburbs spanning 404 square kilometres.

34.9% of residents are under 25 years old, 42.1% are between 25

and 54 years old, and 23% are over 55 years old.

There is an average of 2.9 people per household. The median household income for Penrith City is $1,655 per week.

Penrith people love to spend in their own city and support local businesses, but locals aren't afraid of travel either, with many commuting to the city or elsewhere in Sydney for work or leisure.

HIGHLY ACCESSIBLE BULK DROP DELIVERY

The Western Weekender's print edition is delivered to highly accessible bulk drop locations across the Penrith Local Government Area.

There are hundreds of pick-up spots across the Penrith region, ranging from clubs and service stations to supermarkets and takeaway shops.

From high profile pick-up locations like Westfield Penrith, Penrith Library and Coles and Woolworths supermarkets, through to smaller community shops and businesses, we've got everyone covered.

We monitor pick-up points regularly.

The Weekender print edition is also produced in digital replica format each week, and sent to more than 25,000 direct subscribers.

In addition, the digital replica edition is posted on our website, social media channels and other community social media channels.

The Weekender also offers a paid subscription for those wishing to receive the paper direct to their doorstep. We also regularly distribute at events and festivals.

The Weekender print edition has an estimated readership of more than 35,000 each week.

HUGE REACH ON OUR WEBSITE AND EDM

The Western Weekender website has become a news powerhouse in the Penrith community, engaging both our traditional print audience in addition to a new, younger audience.

The Weekender website regularly attracts more than 200,000 page views every month.

The website features an array of up-to-date local news and sport, keeping Penrith residents and former locals informed of what's happening where they live, work and play.

We regularly break major stories online, and the website is also a hub for the community with what's on guides, business directories and travel content.

Alongside our website, the Weekender has two EDMs released weekly to subscribers, featuring a digital replica of our print edition (Thursdays) as well as breaking news and must-read local content (Tuesdays). These newsletters have more than 25,000 subscribers.

USING THE POWER OF SOCIAL MEDIA

From Facebook to Instagram, X and TikTok, The Western Weekender has always been at the forefront of using social media to connect with our local community.

And we regularly partner with advertisers to share content across our socials.

In addition to the traditional social media platforms, the Weekender also engages with audiences across WhatsApp, Mastadon, Threads and other growing social outlets.

The Weekender has unrivalled access to locals via social media, with extensive user engagement and profiles that have earned the organisation respect across the Penrith community for its ability to break news and inform local residents.

Talk to us today about how we can work together to use the power of the Weekender's social media presence to boost your business. We have a range of options available.

PENRITH'S RUGBY LEAGUE LEADER

Since 1991, The Western Weekender has positioned itself as the rugby league leader in Penrith.

We've been there for five NRL Premierships, and the biggest moments in the history of the Panthers.

Each week during the NRL season, the Weekender produces its Extra Time lift-out, featuring feature stories, exclusive interviews, analysis, posters, tipping competitions and so much more.

As an advertiser, there's no doubt connecting with our rugby league audience can be huge for your business. And you can do so in a variety of ways, including:

- Season-long packages incorporating advertising and corporate tickets to Panthers home matches.
- Sponsorship of weekly player posters
- Take part in our Celebrity Tipping competition
- Traditional display advertising.

Prices available on application.

EXTRA TIME

RELAX AND UNWIND WITH OUR HOME & LIFESTYLE SUPPLEMENT

Sometimes, you just want a break from the hard news and speed of the information cycle.

Enter the Weekender's Home & Lifestyle supplement.

Designed as a relaxing weekend read, Home & Lifestyle is split into three separate sections, including:

- Western Property. Features real estate content, including our Buy of the Week, feature stories and the latest real estate listings from Penrith's leading agents.
- The Experts. Features an array of lifestyle and expert columns, including everything from health and finance to technology and pet care.
- Relax & Unwind. Featuring horoscopes, travel content and our popular puzzles and brain benders.

Advertisers love Home & Lifestyle because it's a section with high engagement where readers' attention is held for longer.

From traditional display advertising to becoming an 'expert' or sponsoring a particular section, there's numerous opportunities for advertisers to become involved with our Home & Lifestyle supplement.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT: BE UP IN LIGHTS!

One of our most popular features every week, In The Spotlight allows your business to be up in lights!

This affordable package includes a half page advertisement, with a half page advertorial above it.

Plus the advertorial will be featured on the Sponsored Content section of the Weekender website, and shared on social media.

The sponsored content can be supplied, or written by one of our experienced journalists to get the right message out there.

In The Spotlight is a fantastic way to introduce a new business to the Penrith community, or announce major news or changes.

It's a great way to build respect and brand awareness for your business in Penrith.

Plus, your sales executive will deliver a framed copy of your In The Spotlight feature, which can be presented at your office.

SPONSOR OUR CROSSWORDS!

Our crosswords and puzzles are extremely popular with readers.

In fact, it's some of our most highly engaged with content.

We run crosswords, word searches and other fun puzzles every single week across multiple pages in our print edition.

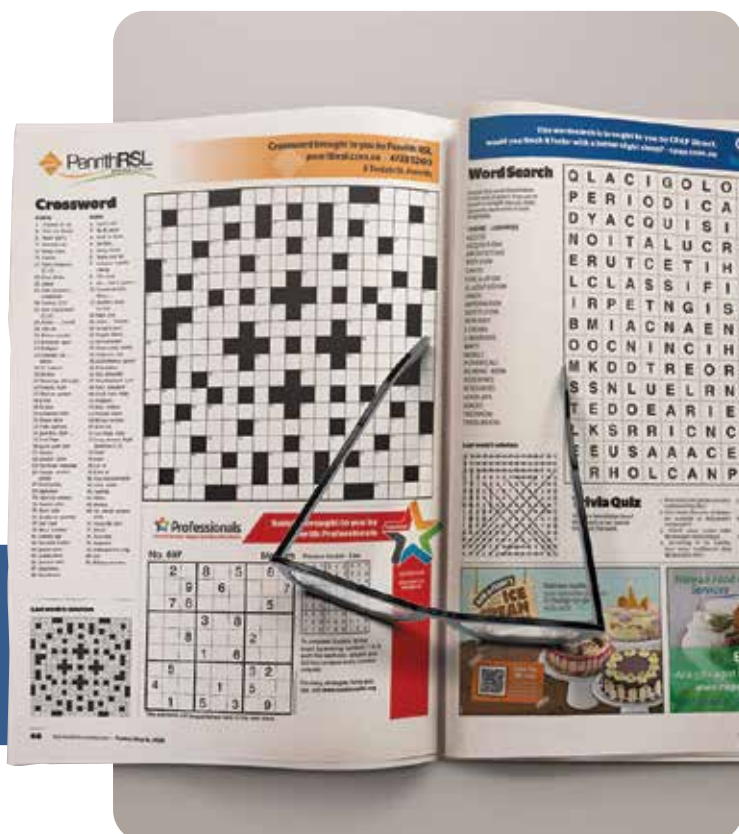

And with so many eyeballs on these pages, it's the perfect place to promote your business or services to our readers.

Your business can become a sponsor of our puzzle pages.

Featuring exclusive branding, your brand will own our puzzles pages, and we can even create fun puzzles that relate to your business.

This is the perfect way to promote your brand to a highly engaged section of our readership.

BECOME A SPONSOR OF OUR TV GUIDE

When it comes to high level reader engagement, you can't go past a TV Guide.

The Weekender re-introduced a TV Guide several years ago following high demand from readers.

With many older readers not subscribed to streaming services and relying on traditional television, it's important they have an up-to-date guide for their week's viewings.

Our TV Guide features all the free-to-air channels, and readers hold on to it for an entire week, which means brand engagement with advertisers is extremely high.

Plus, we run a regular Chatter on the Box TV column to complement our TV Guide.

Your business can sponsor our TV Guide with exclusive branding, delivering important messages to readers that have repeat views through the week.

GOLDEN TRIPLE

NATHAN TAYLOR

Penrith's Jessica Fox completed her final major event before the Paris Olympic Games in style, becoming the first paddler in history to win three gold medals at an ICF Canoe Slalom World Cup. The history-making golden run happened in Krakow, Poland, where the 30-year-old was contesting the women's C1, K1 and Kayak Cross last weekend.

After winning both the Canoe and Kayak events earlier in the meet, Fox collected her 50th individual World Cup gold medal before notching up her 51st in the Kayak Cross.

After flying through the qualification rounds, Fox finished first in the Kayak Cross Final ahead of Tereza Kneblova in second and 2023 World Champion Kimberley Woods in third.

"I feel incredible - this is so unexpected and I'm just so thrilled," Fox said.

"You never know what could happen, especially in Kayak Cross. My strategy was just to try and get a good start and to stay clear headed throughout and make the right decisions.

"I took it step by step and enjoyed myself out there. It was challenging - the Final stage and it was just chaos, I had to fight and adapt the whole way.

Fox was almost speechless about her history-making run but said she couldn't be
